Subject: Broadcom Update: Proxy Vote and Investor Presentation

Today we issued a press release announcing that we have publicly released an investor presentation and sent Qualcomm stockholders a letter that summarizes the substantial near- and long-term opportunities ahead for the company and conveys why we firmly believe stockholders should re-elect our highly qualified and experienced Board of Directors. You can review these materials on a dedicated website we have created at www.qcomvalue.com, which will be regularly updated with new information between now and our March 6th Annual Meeting of Stockholders.

The next few months will include frequent direct communications with our stockholders. Employees who own Qualcomm stock will receive these communications, as well as important instructions on how to vote the WHITE proxy card to re-elect our Board. It is important that you vote with respect to each account in which you hold your shares. Stockholders will also receive letters and proxy cards from Broadcom soliciting your vote — we strongly urge you to discard any blue proxy cards you may receive from Broadcom. This is because voting the blue proxy card - even as a form of protest against the Broadcom slate - will revoke any previous votes you may have submitted using our white proxy card.

The investor presentation outlines our path to move Qualcomm forward and drive value creation for our stockholders. It describes how we'll maintain our leadership position, diversify and generate significant revenue streams as we enter adjacent industries, and invest in key growth opportunities. At the same time, we'll be focused on our overall operating performance, with a commitment to reduce costs and increase efficiencies. Our overarching message to our stockholders is that we have more opportunities in front of us than any other time in Qualcomm's history — and we are focusing the company to take advantage of those opportunities. I encourage you to read through the presentation, and I look forward to sharing more details at our quarterly Employee All Hands Meeting on February 2.

As always, I urge you to remain focused and to not get distracted by media coverage regarding the Annual Meeting. Thanks to efforts of all employees, we are seeing strong momentum with our business. In fact, we just wrapped up another successful exhibition at CES, where we showcased ourselves as the true innovative company that we are, demonstrating our advanced R&D capabilities and highlighting some of the significant opportunities ahead for Qualcomm.

Steve
