Get Informed: Stockholder Microsite Provides Information on Voting Process and Our Roadmap to Value

As Qualcomm urges stockholders to reject Broadcom's undervalued takeover proposal, make sure you are informed about your role as a stockholder and our plans for future growth.

In preparation for our Annual Meeting of Stockholders on March 6, Qualcomm today publicly released an investor presentation and issued a letter to all stockholders summarizing why we believe our Board of Directors should be re-elected.

Our management team walks through our strategy and Broadcom's low value and high risk proposal. Watch the video.

The letter and the presentation outline the significant near- and long-term opportunities for the company that will move us forward and drive value creation for our stockholders.

The letter also outlines Qualcomm's belief that Broadcom is attempting to acquire Qualcomm at an opportunistic, inferior price by installing a slate of inherently conflicted nominees with minimal relevant experience.

In his email to employees Steve Mollenkopf said: "We have more opportunities in front of us than any other time in Qualcomm's history."

To take advantage of those opportunities, Qualcomm is focusing on specific actions, including:

- Continued growth in our core business, driven by our recent wins
- A new cost reduction program
- Accretion from our NXP acquisition (or, alternatively, a large share repurchase)
- Resolution of current licensing disputes

To learn more about our path to growth, as well as to get more information about the voting process, visit www.qcomvalue.com. This dedicated microsite provides resources and additional information to keep you informed, and it will be regularly updated between now and the March 6 Annual Meeting.

One of the available resources is a video in which our management team walks through our strategy and value creation opportunities, as well as Broadcom's low value and high risk proposal to acquire Qualcomm.

Important Voting Information

To vote to re-elect our Board, vote the WHITE proxy card. Broadcom will solicit your vote by sending letters and a blue proxy card. You are strongly urged to discard any blue proxy cards you may receive from Broadcom. This is because voting the blue proxy card - even as a form of protest against the Broadcom slate - will revoke any previous votes you may have submitted using our white proxy card.
